Bank Burglary Attempt Fails

2 Men Flee Without Auto At Wintersville

STUEBENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—After a clumsy attempt to break into a branch bank in Wintersville, two burglars exchanged shots with a state patrolman and fled without their automobile.

As a result of this sequence of events Sunday, police in Cleveland were looking into the current activities of at least three known members of a gang of hoodlums.

Residents Heard Noises

Residents near the Wintersville branch of the First National Bank & Trust Co. of Steubenville heard some noises and summoned the state highway patrol early Sunday.

Patrolman Edward Eger surprised two men at the rear door of the bank. They exchanged shots, one of which hit the left front fender of the patrol car. The men fled while the patrolman summoned help on his radio.

Burglar Tools Found

A set of burglar tools was found near the back door, which the pair had been trying to open. Half a block away was a late model car, without license plates.

The motor number showed it was "one of three or four" registered in the name of Thomas Eugene Rudelick, 32, of Cleveland.

Detectives in Cleveland said they also wanted to talk to Anthony J. Valento, 40, of Wickliffe. Another man, Vincent Innocenzi, 35, was picked up in Cleveland Sunday night.

2 Youths Picked Up Following Police Chase

Phillip Monac, 21, and George McGee, 18, of Midland, Pa., were apprehended early this morning after a night of wholesale burglaries.

Sheriff Richard Beamer of Carroll County and deputies of Stark County apprehended the men about one-half mile east of Canton as the latter were hitchhiking after having abandoned their car.

Monac and McGee admitted to Columbiana County Deputy James Miller the breaking and entering of the Avalon Restaurant and Jenkins Service Station, just west of Hanoverton. They confessed stealing a knick-knack worth $3.98 and a flashlight from the gas station.

They then tried to break into the A. J. Holle Plymouth-DeSoto garage at East Rochester but were scared away, the sheriff's office said.

The youths broke into the Wick-ersham Amoco Service Station and stole cigarettes and candy. They then broke into the Violand Gas Station and took $75. Both stations are east of Minerva on Rt. 30.

Much of the loot taken from the establishments was found in the car abandoned by the youths.

It has not been decided in which county the youths will be tried.

Ike Expected To Continue Some Aid to Yugoslavia

President Reported Willing To Permit Shipment Of Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower is expected to issue Tuesday a policy decision to continue limited economic and military assistance to Communist Yugoslavia.

How long the aid would continue would depend on results of frequent reviews of Yugoslavia's relations with Russia.

Officials said the administration is determined to avoid any action which might push Yugoslavia into closer association with Russia. At the same time there is considerable concern over how rapidly Yugoslav President Tito may be rebuilding tight links with Moscow on his own initiative.

Those in decisive positions say privately they do not believe that Tito wants to alienate the support of Western nations which enabled him to survive and establish his independence after his break with the Soviet bloc under Stalin in 1948.

Tito's urgent need right now is for an estimated 200,000 tons of wheat from the United States to meet a severe food shortage.

It was understood that Eisenhower's decision would emphasize the importance of the wheat shipment. Yugoslavia would have to turn to Russia for this if it was not forthcoming from the United States.

A critical Congress voted last July that the Yugoslav aid program must stop unless Eisenhower determined by Oct. 16 that Yugoslavia was independent of Soviet control, that it was not participating in a program for Red conquest of the world and that granting assistance would be in the U.S. national interest.

Adlai To Push Nixon Higher On His Campaign Target List

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson pushed Vice President Nixon higher on his target list today as the 1956 presidential campaign entered the critical final three weeks.

A top campaign strategist said the vice president could become a "prime issue" in the closing days of the drive. He told reporters the Democrats feel "that there is wide distrust of Nixon," and said Stevenson would expand his criticism of the vice president.

The Democratic presidential nominee will strike out again tonight — in a nationwide ABC radio and television address from Chicago — on another of his major issues, a proposal that ways be found to halt the testing of giant H-bombs.

The time: 9:30 p.m., EST. Meanwhile, he sought to dramatize Tuesday's national solicitation of small contributions for the Democratic campaign by agreeing to ring the first doorbell himself today on a visit to a neighboring Libertyville home.

Aides said Stevenson in his talk tonight will outline the reasoning behind his insistence that the country's best hopes for peace lie in finding ways to put a stop to the testing of H-bombs and persuade Russia to follow suit.

Sunday Stevenson received support from two sources for his suggestion that the United States also the lead in framing an international agreement to halt H-bomb tests.

Two Persons Hurt In Home Accidents

Two persons received treatment at Salem City Hospital after sustaining injuries in home accidents over the weekend.

Joseph Beeson of 1456 Orchard St. was admitted Saturday after falling from his porch. He was treated for a possible fracture of the right shoulder and was released Sunday.

Mrs. William Powell of 25½ S. Main St., Columbiana is in fair condition at the hospital where she was admitted Saturday at 4:30 p.m. She fractured her right arm when she fell after slipping on a rug at her home.

Ike Steps Up Campaign Tempo

President To Speak Five Days In Row

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, leaving Tuesday on a trip to the West Coast, takes the lead this week in stepping up the tempo of the Republican campaign.

For the first time since opening his re-election drive, he has political speeches scheduled — either recorded or out on the stump — five days in a row.

From his standpoint, the quickened campaign pace starts tonight with two filmed five-minute talks on nationwide television.

The first over NBC will be at 8:25 p. m. EST, the second over ABC at 9:25 p. m.

Coast-To-Coast Talk

Tuesday night he will be on coast-to-coast TV again, also for five minutes, with another filmed appeal over CBS for votes.

The time: 6:55 p. m. These recorded talks are the first in a series of 33 which between now and election day Nov. 6 will feature the President, members of his Cabinet and other leading Republicans. The series is called "Your Government and You."

Republicans also are stepping up their half-hour TV shows from one to three a week.

Two Persons Seriously Hurt In Road Mishaps

Two persons were seriously injured in two of 11 auto mishaps that occurred on district highways over the weekend.

Thomas A. Green, 21, of Salineville, sustained a possible fractured skull, lacerations of the face, abrasions of the arms, and a head injury after he lost control of his car, causing it to overturn on Rt. 30, four miles east of Minerva, at 1:15 a. m. Sunday.

Patrolmen said Green will be cited for speeding upon his release from Salem City Hospital where he is in fair condition. His car was demolished.

Two Drivers Arrested

Harold Hawkins, 21, of Malvern and James Ormiston, 37, of Alliance were arrested for inadequate brakes and failing to stop in the assured clear distance ahead, respectively.

Another accident involved cars driven by Frederick W. Slater, 69, of Paris, O., and Carl L. Landis, 41, of East Liverpool. Patrolmen said Landis turned from a county road onto Rt. 170, two miles from East Liverpool, and struck Slater's car at 6:05 p.m. Sunday.

Clara Slater of Paris, a passenger in the Slater car, received a bruised arm. Landis was cited for failure to yield the right of way.

Ship Finds Parts Of Lost Plane

New Search Begun For 59 U.S. Airmen

LONDON (AP)—A Royal Air Force spokesman said today a British ship has picked up the wheels and part of the undercarriage from the U. S. military air transport plane missing since Wednesday in the East Atlantic with 59 U. S. servicemen.

"It gives us new hope that there might be a dinghy or dinghies in the area with survivors," the RAF officer said in Cornwall.

New Search Begins

"A new search is now being gradually built up around the area in which the wreckage was found."

A U. S. Air Force spokesman in London said he could not confirm the wreckage was from the missing plane, a C118 Liftmaster.

The debris was picked up by the British tanker Navicella about 250 miles southwest of Land's End, the most southwesterly point of Britain.

U. S. Air Force authorities here said the serial numbers of the wheels still had to be checked with the numbers of the wheels of the missing aircraft before it could be definitely established they were the same.

A high speed Royal Navy launch was dispatched to the tanker to pick up the wreckage.

Hunt To Continue

The U. S. Air Force announced earlier today that its search for survivors from the Liftmaster would continue indefinitely.

"We cannot see any curtailment at this time, and the search is continuing on schedule," an Air Force spokesman said.

The big military transport version of the DC6 disappeared last Wednesday night on a flight from England to the United States by way of the Azores. It carried 50 Air Force men returning home after duty in Britain and 9 Navy crewmen.

21 Persons Register For Craft Classes

Twenty-one persons have registered for the craft classes scheduled to start Wednesday at the Memorial Building.

Copper tooling classes will be held from 9 to 11 a. m. and 6 to 8 p. m.

There will be three class sessions in copper tooling.

It takes approximately two sessions to complete one project. Fourteen persons have signed up for the morning class, and 7 for the evening class. Registration is being continued for others who wish to join the class.

Israel Calls Home 4 Envoys From World Capitals

Iraq's Plan To Move Troops To Jordan Brings Talk Of War

JERUSALEM (AP)—Tension bristled today on both sides of the Israel-Jordan border. Israel called home its ambassadors from four world capitals while the neighboring Arab kingdom held military talks with its stronger ally Iraq.

Iraq's reported plan to move troops into Jordan brought talk of renewed danger of war to the Israeli sector of Jerusalem. Israel voiced its determination to resist the move.

In Amman, Jordan's capital, an official statement was expected on the conferences between young King Hussein and the Iraqi delegation headed by Crown Prince Abdul Ilah. The talks opened Sunday. A Jordanian source described them as "of a purely military nature."

3,000 Troops Involved

Word that Iraq planned to send about 3,000 troops to strengthen Jordan's government against collapse circulated in Washington last Wednesday. The United States and Britain reportedly approved the idea, believing the Iraqis would act as a stabilizing influence during the country-wide elections next Sunday.

But Israel saw the move as "a direct threat to Israel's integrity." "This threat to the government of Israel... is determined to meet," Foreign Minister Golda Meir said in a statement.

May Appeal To U. N. An appeal to the Security Council against the Iraqi troop movement was reported under consideration.

Britain took an increasingly grave view of the situation. The British-Jordan collective defense agreement of 1948 obligates Britain to help the little Arab nation if it is attacked.

Britain also is obligated to defend Israel in case of an Arab attack under the British-French-American agreement of 1950 guaranteeing Palestine's borders.

The Israel-Jordan border has been the scene of increasing raids and counterattacks since early September. Israeli forces have killed nearly 150 Jordanians in retaliatory attacks following charges that persons from Jordan had killed Israelis.

Columbiana Exceeds Bloodmobile Quota

Donate 137 Pints On Initial Visit

COLUMBIANA—Columbiana exceeded by 12 pints its quota of 125 pints for the visit of the Cleveland bloodmobile to Columbiana last Friday.

One hundred and eighty-two volunteer donors reported, donating a total of 137 pints.

The bloodmobile was stationed in front of Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church, and the testing and extraction of blood were done inside the church. Doctors were assisted by a number of volunteer nurses and others.

Semi-annual visits to Columbiana are planned for the bloodmobile. The next visit in six months will be announced.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Clipper Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will meet in the lodge quarters at 8 p.m. today.

The Parent Teacher association of Fairfield School will close today its annual membership drive. Awards to children signing up most members will be made at the P.T.A. meeting at the school at 8 p.m. Friday. A social hour will follow the business. Mrs. Kenneth Bell is president of the association.

COLUMBIANA COUNTY Council of the American Legion met with Glendmoor Post, near East Liverpool, Friday evening, and discussed the county situation in the membership drive for the 1956-57 Legion year. The Columbiana county quota is 3,061, second highest in the nine counties of the 10th district. North Georgetown Post is the first in the county to reach its quota and has a margin of 21.

"Gifts for the Yanks who gave," an Ohio Department project, will have a larger goal this year because more hospitals have been added to be remembered.

Firestone Post of Columbiana was represented by District Vice Commander Robert Patchen, Commander William Duffy, Adjutant Thomas Crawford, A. M. McLaughlin and Marcus Hum.

All the candidates of both parties for Columbiana county offices, the county chairmen, Representative Wayne L. Hays of the 18th district, and State Representative Clarence L. Wetzel of Lisbon have been invited by the Kiwanis Club to be its guests at Heck's restaurant at 6:30 p.m. today, when they will be introduced and afforded an opportunity to outline their respective platforms.

The party delegations will be headed by Don R. Gosney of Columbiana, county Democratic chairman, and James McSweeney of Wellsville, county Republican chairman.

THE FILM, "Bridges of America," postponed from last Monday, will be shown by Earl Newell at the meeting of the Rotary Club at Valley Golf at 6:30 p.m. today.

Fall clean-up day in Columbiana, usually set for the first Thursday in November, will be advanced a week this year to Thursday, Oct. 25, Street Commissioner Carl Spratt announces, because the first Thursday this year comes at Halloween time.

The Kindergarten Mothers Club will have a Halloween party for the children in connection with its October meeting at Joshua Dixon School tomorrow evening.

A work hour is set for 7:30 to prepare for the party, which will follow the business meeting at 8. All kindergarten mothers will be welcome.

The Triple M Class of the Presbyterian Church will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Arn 432 S. Main St., at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Election of officers is scheduled for the October meeting of the Columbiana Garden Club at the home of Mrs. Lee Bookwalter, 462 N. Main St., at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow. Members of the club will make winter gardens for shut-ins.

Columbiana Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, will have a special meeting at 8 p.m. today.

Farmers To Hear Dr. Warner Thursday

Dr. William E. Warner, professor of education at Ohio State University, will be the main speaker at a meeting of the Columbiana-Carroll County chapter of the Independent Farmers of Ohio Inc., to be held at West Local School in East Rochester Thursday at 8 p.m.

A veteran of World War I and II and author of several novels, Dr. Warner is associated in an executive position with numerous civil and service organizations.

He was a member of General Eisenhower's staff in London and Versailles in 1944. He has traveled extensively in Europe and had addressed over 350 audiences.

Dr. Warner will speak on Americanism.

Mrs. FDR Urges North To Lead In Integration

CLEVELAND (AP)—The larger cities of the north should take the lead in the desegregation of housing, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt told two audiences here Sunday.

She declared that "we in the north must show that we can do this job" as an example for the south, and as a preliminary to full integration of the races in the school systems.

She spoke at a luncheon of the Women's Democratic Club of Cuyahoga County, and later to a political meeting sponsored by the Northern Ohio volunteers for Stevenson and Kefauver Committee. There were about 1,000 persons at the luncheon and approximately 1,200 at the political meeting.

Still Listening

The shortest presidential campaign in history is beginning to seem like the longest, although it still has three weeks to run.

Voters are still listening to the arguments and rebuttals, but there is reason to believe they are listening more from a sense of obligation than a sense of curiosity. The parties are continuing to spend large amounts of money on television, the new way to reach the greatest numbers in the shortest time. But even this new medium is being affected by one of the oldest truths in politics.

It is more dangerous to talk too much than too little.

Even Adlai Stevenson's most ardent backers could wish he had remained silent instead of making such blunders as his charge that the Eisenhower administration had loaned 100 million dollars to Argentine's dictator Juan Peron. It was the Truman administration that lent Peron the money — 130 million, no 100 million.

Estes Kefauver also has overreached himself in his zeal to find something — anything — that might give him a talking point. His charge that the Eisenhower administration was in favor of higher rural electrification rates backfired so disastrously he had to admit in a subsequent speech that he had been misinformed.

As the campaign grinds through its closing days, it is likely to resemble a play with a weak third act. Everything has happened that is going to happen. Even though it is clearly understood that the purpose of campaigning is to stimulate members of the party, not to change minds, it is questionable if stimulation is being accomplished with great success in this campaign. Mr. Stevenson is a warmed-over loser. Mr. Eisenhower is still popular.

The basic fact when the campaign began late in August is still the basic fact in mid-October — that the American people customarily go by the rule that a first-term president who has done a good job is entitled to a vote of confidence when he runs for a second term.

Five Dollar Limit

Walter Reuther made a suggestion about campaign contributions while appearing before a Senate campaign expenditures subcommittee curious about how the AFL-CIO distinguishes between union dues diverted to political purposes and union contributions for political purposes.

All contributions, he thought, should be limited to $5 a person per federal candidate, plus $5 to the organization. Thus, in a presidential election, a contributor would be limited to $20 — $5 for president, $5 for a representative, $5 for a senator and $5 for the organization.

On the off-chance someone might think this is a jim-dandy suggestion, it is from the Reutherian point of view. It would limit the money resources of all candidates, except those backed by unions, which are uniquely privileged to spend as much as they please to back their favorites.

Corporations and companies are barred from doing this. If there were a $5 limit per candidate, per campaign, with a limit of five to feed the kitty, unions would have no political competition at all. They get it now from individuals — the kind Walter Reuther would like to put under a $5 limit.

When You Can't Win

Secretary of State Dulles is an issue in England. The Laborites are cursing him out and so are the Conservatives. For once, they are in agreement.

He also is an issue in France. And of course he is an issue in the United States. The trouble with Mr. Dulles is that he cannot fix up all the things that keep coming unglued in international relations.

When he tries, moreover, he treads on tender corns and offends the delicate sensibilities of politicians and statesmen who make a practice of offending sensibilities and treading on corns and therefore know the work of an expert when they see one.

It can be assumed that Mr. Dulles also is an issue in Italy, Russia, Holland, Japan, all of Latin America, Spain, Egypt, the rest of the Middle East, Nationalist China, Red China, Burma, Bora-Bora and Dogpatch, because it has become his role to play the role of international Mr. Fixit. He cannot please everybody. There are times when he cannot please anybody.

Sore days when the boys in peanut heaven are roughing him up, it would be fun to invite them to come down to earth. They wouldn't come. They know what Mr. Dulles knows, that there are times and situations when you can't win, such as trying to keep wars from breaking out with both belligerents expecting every American to do his duty.

A large shipment of tulip bulbs arrived at Hoboken from Holland for fall planting. A real Dutch treat for Americans.

Real Suez Issue

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Treaty Of '88 Still In Effect

The sanctity of a treaty—whether the promises men live by will be kept—is the real issue in the Suez Canal controversy.

Lawrence

Time was, just a few decades ago, when world opinion centered on ways a baring or settling — by an international commission of jurists — all questions of a "justiciable" nature. The idea was that, if it was a "legal" question and not one that involved "national honor," nations should be prepared to let impartial judges settle it. Is the world today devoid of jurists who can examine the Treaty of 1888 which provides for management of the Suez Canal?

Why should there be talk of war or exaggerated claims about "sovereignty" which have little to do with the matter when the words of a treaty, duly signed by the principal nations using the canal, cover that subject and provide what shall be done in various contingencies?

The Suez Canal Treaty of 1888 itself, which is of indefinite duration and has never been abrogated by the nations that signed it, says:

"Article I. The Suez Maritime Canal shall always be free and open, in time of war as in time of peace, to every vessel of commerce or of war, without distinction of flag. Consequently, the high contracting parties agree not in any way to interfere with the free use of the canal, in time of war as in time of peace. The Canal shall never be subjected to the exercise of the right of blockade.

"Article II. The high contracting parties, recognizing that the fresh-water canal is indispensable to the maritime canal, take note of the engagements of His Highness the Khedive (of Egypt) towards the Universal Suez Canal company as regards the fresh-water canal; which engagements are stipulated in a convention bearing date the 18th March, 1863

"They (the signatories) undertake not to interfere in any way with the security of that canal and its branches, the working of which shall not be exposed to any attempt at obstruction

"Article VIII. The agents in Egypt of the signatory powers of the present treaty shall be charged to watch over its execution

"Article IX. The Egyptian government shall, within the limits of its powers resulting from the firmans (decrees of the Turkish government), and under the conditions provided for in the present treaty, take the necessary measures for insuring the execution of the said treaty.

"In case the Egyptian government should not have sufficient means at its disposal, it shall call upon the Imperial Ottoman Government (Turkey), which shall take the necessary measures to report to such appeal; shall give notice thereof to the signatory powers of the Declaration of London of the 17th March, 1885; and shall, if necessary, concert with them on the subject

"Article XIII. With the exception of the obligations expressly provided by the clauses of the present treaty, the sovereign rights of His Imperial Majesty the Sultan (of Turkey), and the rights and immunities of His Highness the Khedive (of Egypt) are in no way affected."

THE NATIONS SIGNING this were: Great Britain, Germany, Austria-Hungary, Spain, France, Italy, The Netherlands, Russia and Turkey.

Since those days, the form of government in some of these countries has changed. But unless a treaty is specifically repudiated, it remains in force as an obligation of the government that has succeeded the regime that signed the document.

Also, Turkey's rights over Egypt itself were given up as a result of changes brought by World War I, but the Egyptian government is still bound by the same legal obligations as it was when it existed as a political entity under Turkish rule. Successors or heirs to contracts are bound by the provisions of those contracts.

There is and has been no question, therefore, about the "sovereign" rights of Egypt in reference to the canal and surrounding territory.

The only limitation on Egyptian "sovereignty" is the one Egypt herself accepted when she undertook to keep in operation the 1888 treaty. She continued to function under it until the recent seizure of the canal property, itself.

This act apparently was a violation of the specific obligations of the treaty, but it did not render the treaty null and void.

How long does the treaty run? The Canal Co. contract has until 1968 to go, but the Treaty of 1888 says:

"The high contracting parties agree that the engagements resulting from the present treaty shall not be limited by the duration of the acts of concession of the Universal Suez Canal Co.

THE LEGAL QUESTIONS are clearly evident from a reading of the treaty.

Can a nation go back on its word and yet claim it is observing the treaty?

Why should the parties to the 1888 treaty agree to a mutual abrogation unless a new treaty benefits them?

Cannot the dispute be resolved by an agreement among the user of the canal negotiated now with the Egyptian government but retaining the overall protection of the 1888 treaty?

This is a problem for lawyers—not for soldiers.

Surely, in the United Nations, or outside of it, a judicial commission can be formed to render a legal opinion — even if only advisory — on the obligations of the present Egyptian government and the other parties to the 1888 treaty.

If contracts can be broken at will, international order will be disrupted and wars will result.

Profit Margins

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Costlier business operations take some of the good out of good times for many concerns.

A number of firms are reporting higher sales volume today without any corresponding rise in profits. And some report profits trailing last year even though they're doing more business.

Still rising costs in the steel industry is causing talk of another hike in steel prices by spring.

Merchants, because they deal directly with the buying public, are in a less happy position when it comes to raising price tags. Many of them are reported absorbing the higher prices on manufactured goods rather than risk loss of customers in the present highly competitive retail market.

Sore keepers see their profit margins squeezed as they try to ward off the inroads of the discount houses and other forms of present day competition.

How much it costs to be competitive these days is shown in the stories from Detroit.

The auto makers are supposed to have spent one billion dollars in bringing out the new models. They plan to spend more millions than ever this year in advertising the 1957 models.

Early response to the new Fords is reported very encouraging. When the Chevrolets and Plymouths reach the dealers, the competitive race will be on and the auto makers will find out whether their billion dollar bet will be profitable. One thing they're worrying about is whether tight money, threatening to send up installment payment costs, will cut into sales.

High development costs for new planes has cut into the earnings of Douglas Aircraft. The company says it spent $16,800,000 in the first nine months on development, and its net profit is below last year.

Rising costs of labor and materials are cited by the New York Central Railroad in reporting a drop in net earnings.

American Telephone & Telegraph, although reporting comfortable earnings, stresses big outlays for expansion. In the last three months it installed more phones — meaning more facilities, too — than in any previous third quarter. Expansion costs have sent it into the money market several times of late to get new financing.

The Proper Background

Labor's Role In The Election

By VICTOR RIESEL

Behind the closed doors of the Ohio Room in Washington's Hotel Statler last Friday morning, Adlai Stevenson's campaign chief told 50 influential men that it was their dollars which are providing the power for the Democratic drive for the White House.

The 50 men are labor leaders. The money is coming in from their followers — in the greatest outpouring of voluntary contributions in presidential campaign history.

This the union chiefs told Paul Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee. And the record will show that the dollar drive launched by the national unions has netted over $1,500,000. All of it has gone to the Democrats.

THE REPUBLICANS would be deceiving themselves if they doubted this. It's the record. It's the evidence of the impact of labor's year round political activity which does not suddenly sprout to morning glory only at the dawn of critical campaigns.

Without this kind of support from labor, the Democrats would be in as deep financial trouble as a bank with vaults filled only with Confederate currency.

There are a few officially politically neutral unions in this campaign. Of these, only one has bucked the Democratic-labor coalition. That's the Teamsters Brotherhood, America's most powerful union.

What its chief, Dave Beck has done is to write an open letter to his 1,500,000 members to tell them he thinks that all labor ought to stay out of politics and rely mostly on its "economic power" — meaning, of course, the picket line.

BECK'S LETTER is characteristically tough. He says he feels "very strongly" about what he says and that no one will push the union into supporting any candidate it doesn't like.

This was an irritated reference to the AFL-CIO's endorsement of Stevenson and Kefauver.

"There are some representatives of labor who advocate aligning themselves with one of the major parties, but with this course, the Teamsters Union is in definite disagreement and we have ourselves on record" wrote Dave Beck.

"Regardless of what it may entail the International Brotherhood of Teamsters will not permit an infringement of its autonomy to act for and in the best interests of its members."

JUST WHAT THE BEST interests are is being decided in every state. Hundreds of thousands of dollars sponsorship of TV broadcasts and long cacophonous caravans have been lined up by the local Teamsters for Republicans and Democrats across the land.

But Mr. Beck says there will be no delivery of the entire union to just one party.

Why? Because says Beck, he will not barter "political allegiance for short term gains which may bring long term disappointments."

"The course we enunciate here is the soundest insurance against any trend towards nationalization of industry through political action," Beck said.

Economic action is the fundamental procedure for our organization. We were built that way as a union. The American labor movement was built to its present importance primarily through economic not political action.

"BY STRESSING THE importance of economic action we are guaranteeing that the labor movement will remain a free movement not tied to the political forces of any party."

So says Dave Beck, who still is the most powerful man in labor's most powerful union. It's a lone but loud voice. If Mr. Stevenson wins, the voice will not be heard above the din. If Mr. Eisenhower wins Beck will not be alone next time.

It Might Work

By TRUMAN TWILL

This is one man's idea for starting to fix up what is wrong with the world. It will not be tried.

But if it were tried, it might work. Therefore, it is worth a second thought. Sometime it might be tried.

Mankind needs a rest from its own chatter. It needs to think about whether mankind without distractions.

It has become the victim of its own unbridled freedom of communications. There is never an instant of silence any more.

The blabbermouths are queued up waiting their turn to pop off. All the agencies and facilities of communication are busy 24 hours a day to relay blabbermouth to every corner of the earth.

The world resembles a school room full of undisciplined and sometimes malicious children, with no supervision. Everybody is talking and shouting. No one is listening.

This is the way babel was invented — a hopeless confusion of voices, languages, shrieks and ideas. The cure for babel is to start with silence.

Everybody should shut his trap for one week. There should be a worldwide vow of silence. During the silence there should be an earnest effort to think — just once.

Each man and woman should retire to his personal version of a "high place," therein to meditate according to his own ability.

When the week was over, some of the babel would have been still forever by shame and conscience. Some of it would have ceased to be important, when it was resumed.

A few hundred lies and misapprehensions would have fallen of their own weight. Some neglected truths and principles would have been restored to their rightful place.

In countries relying on popular government, the self-governing would have a clearer idea what they are trying to do. Still, small voices of inner conscience could be heard for a change.

Keyed-up nerves that had been at the breaking point would relax. In many areas of confusion, jackstraw entanglements of issues would fall into place of their own accord, given the benefit of leisurely judgment instead of frantic haste.

Could mankind afford to waste a week on silence?

Can mankind afford to waste a lifetime on blabbermouth, caterwauling, backbiting, prevarication, gossip, rumor, malice croaking, mud-slinging, lint-picking, motelpucking, accusation, rebuttal, howling and sneering?

There is no way to enforce a week of silence on the world, nor any fraction of the world. It can be done only by individuals shutting their own traps and plugging their own ears.

Phone Service To Be Restored

Governor Asks CWA
To Return To Work

COLUMBUS Ohio (AP)—Telephone service in Portsmouth and Scioto County was to be restored this afternoon on the strength of Gov. Frank J. Lausche's promise that the Ohio highway patrol would protect personnel and installations of the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co.

Gov. Lausche ordered the patrol into the area after a conference Sunday afternoon and evening with company officials representatives of the striking Communications Workers of America (CWA) and Portsmouth area law enforcement officials.

The company closed exchanges Friday afternoon after a demonstration and stoning of its installations Thursday night.

The governor said patrolmen would accompany cable repair crews and guard all exchanges in the area. He also asked Portsmouth area law enforcement officials to deputize state patrolmen if necessary.

The governor proposed that both parties in the dispute appoint new bargaining teams to seek an end to the 92-day strike and suggested to union representatives that telephone workers return to their jobs while negotiators try to reach agreement on a new company-union contract.

J. Curtis Fletcher, national director of CWA, said the union would consider the back-to-work proposal but added that it would "put us at a disadvantage." He later told newsmen that he doubted such a recommendation would receive a favorable vote from union members.

Both company and union representatives said they would consider the governor's suggestion that they appoint new negotiators.

Lausche questioned company and union representatives, commenting that he "wanted to find out who's been yielding and who's not been yielding in this thing."

He discussed each of the 16 issues which have reportedly deadlocked the bargaining talks. He also asked about vandalism during the strike.

Lausche told union leaders he was convinced that violence during the strike seemed to have been "perpetrated by members of your union." Fletcher replied that he did not know who caused the violence.

Lausche said he would meet with company and union officials again "two weeks from (Sunday)" to hear a progress report.

Miss Marjorie Jane Umstead Is Bride Of Curtis C. Cope

The Holy Trinity English Lutheran Church was the scene of the lovely Sunday afternoon wedding of Miss Marjorie Jane Umstead and Curtis C. Cope.

Rev. George D. Keister, pastor, and Rev. C. L. Cope of Lisbon, uncle of the bridegroom, officiated at the single ring ceremony which united in marriage the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart B. Umstead of 256 W. 10th St. and the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Cope of East Fairfield.

White chrysanthemums with pom-poms were arranged in the altar vases; and seven-branch candelabra, palms, ferns, and white satin bows entwined with huckleberry leaves completed the sanctuary decor.

Charter Merrill of Salem was the soloist and sang "Bless This House," "You'll Never Walk Alone," and "A Wedding Prayer." "The Lord's Prayer" was sung as the couple knelt at the altar. Miss Ruth Hoch was the organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gown in a silk taffeta creation in floor length with a square neckline accented with a row of Alencon lace. The long torso with Alencon lace accented the neckline and ended in a chapel train. The cultured pearl ring which she wore was a gift of the bridegroom.

Annual Dinner Held By I.H.S. Class

Fall flowers were arranged in table centerpieces during the annual anniversary covered dinner of the I. H. S. Class of the Holy Trinity English Lutheran Church Wednesday evening at the church.

Hosts for the event were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Lehman and Mr. and Mrs. John Kehr.

An anniversary cake decorated in the class colors of green and yellow was prepared by Mrs. Robert Warner.

Problems of civil defense and facets of first aid were illustrated by William Wark, guest speaker.

The evening's program included a welcome by Charles Youtz; a violin duet, Charles Becknell and David Platt, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Becknell; an accordion duet, Jimmy and Susan Pike; solo, Beverly Yates, accompanied by Esther Odoran.

Piano solo, Karen Greenisen; accordion solo, Maxine Allison; pantomime, Polly Schmid; group singing, with Mrs. Becknell as pianist; and brief talks, Rev. and Mrs. George D. Keister.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Platt and Mr. and Mrs. Wade Schaefer will be hosts at the Nov. 14 meeting of the class which will be at the church.

Town Hall DINER

Her fingertip veil was edged with a row of fine lace cording with a small pillbox hat covered with white taffeta petals centered on top with a circle of pearls and one rhinestone.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white gladiolus and polished magnolia leaves with a single streamer of gladiolus and magnolia leaves extending to ankle length of the bridal gown.

Miss Donna Arnold of Warren acted as the honor maid for the bride and was gown in a white lace sheath dress in street length fashioned with a scoop neckline and short sleeves with an emerald green taffeta sash ending in a bustle and drape at the back of the dress.

She wore a matching green taffeta picture hat and carried a white taffeta ruffled muff with pale yellow pom-poms and hanging ivy.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Donald Bable of East Fairfield, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Carter Love of Anderson, Ind.; and Mrs. H. Raymond Chapin of Sharon, Pa., sorority sister of the bride.

All were gown in dresses and hats identical to that of the maid of honor. Each carried white pom-poms and ivy on their muffs, and all wore single strand baby seed pearl chokers, gifts of the bride.

Miss Connie Lou Cope of Berea, a niece of the bridegroom, was the flower girl. She wore a mint green short, full-skirted dress with a mint green ribbon in her hair. She carried a white taffeta shirred basket with ivy and white pom-poms extending over the side.

Glenn W. Cope of Berea was the best man for the bridegroom; and ushers were Joseph H. Brooks of Lancaster, Earl Myers of Columbus Grove and Ralph Gresser of Wooster all fraternity brothers of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Umstead was attired in a medium blue dress with blue and white accessories and a corsage of white pom-poms. Mrs. Ella Umstead, grandmother of the bride, wore navy blue with a white pom-pom corsage.

Mrs. Cope chose a plum-hued dress with pink and black accessories and a corsage of white pom-poms.

One hundred fifty guests greeted the couple at the reception held in the parlors of the church following the ceremony. The bridal table was covered with an apple green and white striped cloth trimmed with a dark green velvet ribbon.

A trellis extended from both sides of the table with green leaves entwined within the trellis. Two imitation birds held ribbons which extended downward. Bouquets of white fall flowers provided the center decor of the refreshment table, with green and white the predominant color theme.

The square cake was topped with wedding bells and encircled with ivy at its base.

Assisting in serving were Mrs. Royce Kump of Limaville, cousin of the bride, Mrs. William Vogelhuter of Columbus, Miss Shirley Brautigam of Salem and Mrs. Kale of Berlin Center.

Miss Barbara Umstead of Salem, cousin of the bride, registered the guests who came from Salem, Youngstown, Columbiana, East Fairfield, Limaville, Columbus, Lisbon, Lancaster, Wooster, Columbus Grove, New Waterford, East Liverpool, Berlin Center, Louisville, Sharon, Pa., Greenville, Pa. and Anderson, Ind.

The rehearsal dinner was held Saturday evening at the bridegroom's home where his parents were hosts.

When the couple departed for a wedding trip to Florida, the bride wore a brown jersey suit with orange and dark brown accessories.

A graduate of Salem High School and Youngstown University where she was affiliated with Alpha Iota Sorority, the bride is a secretary to the retail sales manager of Standard Oil Co. in Youngstown.

Mr. Cope, a graduate of Fairfield Centralized School and Ohio State University, is affiliated with Alpha Gamma Sigma fraternity and is secretary-treasurer of the Columbiana Construction and Paving Co.

Following their return from the wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Cope will reside at 310 N. Main St. in Columbiana.

Miss Dorothy M. Brunstetter Is Married To Bruce Kuntzman

Miss Dorothy M. Brunstetter and Bruce Kuntzman were united in marriage Sunday afternoon in a ceremony performed in the Alliance Church of God.

Rev. J. A. Overholt officiated during the ceremony which joined the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Brunstetter of RD 2, Ravenna and the son of Walter Kuntzman of Alliance and Mrs. Mike Simon of Salem.

White gladiolas and pom poms were arranged amid ferns and palms at the altar where Miss Esther Channell of Alliance sang "Walk Side by Side with Me," "Oh, Perfect Love," and "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. Riniwald of Alliance was at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gown in a white satin ballerina length creation in the princess style with a jacket of lace. Her finger tip veil of illusion was held in place with a tiara headdress set with brilliant.

Her bouquet was of white galla gladiolas arranged on a prayer book. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls.

Mrs. Betty Lou Griffith of North Benton acted as the honor matron for the bride, and she wore a blue lace over satin ballerina length gown. She carried an arrangement of pink carnations and wore a headdress composed of pink carnations.

Henry Koran of Salem acted as best man for the bridegroom, and ushers were Herald Wright and Delbert Smith of Alliance.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brunstetter wore a black crepe dress with rhinestone accessories and a pink carnation corsage. Mrs. Simon was attired in a beige dress with pink accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

Presiding at the bridal table during the reception held in the church following the ceremony were Mrs. John Kona and Mrs. Delbert Smith of Alliance, Miss Alma Brunstetter of Edinburg. Preparing and decorating the cake were Mrs. James Miller and Mrs. Ray Hobbs. Mr. and Mrs. Kuntzman were hosts at the rehearsal dinner in their home.

When the couple departed for a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls, the bride wore a pink and black suit with pink accessories and a galla gladiolas corsage. Upon their return the couple will reside at RD 3, Salem.

A graduate of Edinburg High School and Salem City Hospital School of Nursing, Mrs. Kuntzman is a registered nurse. Mr. Kuntzman, a graduate of Salem High School, is an attendant at the Salem Amoco Station.

'Parcels For Peace' Drive Is Scheduled

The Salem District Council of Church Women is sponsoring a World Community Day service Friday, Nov. 2, at 2 p.m. in the Emmanuel Lutheran Church.

Mrs. H. Erwin Parham of Youngstown will be guest speaker, and there will be special music. The council is urging everyone who attends the meeting and all those who cannot attend to cooperate in the collection of "Parcels for Peace."

Items sought for the parcels are: men and boys clothing, especially suits and overcoats; yardage of materials for refugee mothers to use in making clothes for their families; blankets; children's clothes; and clothes for girls and women.

All donations should be in wearable condition. They will be sent to the needy in India, Pakistan, Korea, Near East, Japan, Greece, Italy, Germany and Hong Kong.

The Westminster House of the Presbyterian Church will serve as "pick up" station for this world service project. Mrs. Ralph Walton is chairman.

Outlying areas with no pick up stations may call Mrs. Walton who will accept parcels at the Salem station. The cost of shipping the goods is eight cents a pound.

Three Persons Hurt In Car Mishap Here

Three persons were admitted to Salem City Hospital as the result of a two-car collision which occurred Sunday at 9 p.m. at the intersection of S. Ellsworth Ave. and Wilson St.

A car driven by Nick Antonio, 31, of 1200 E. 11th St. struck the rear of an auto driven by Eugene Bennett, 37, of 324 W. 9th St. while Bennett was stopped for a traffic light.

Gus Paparadis, 27, of 180 1/2 W. State St., a passenger in Antonio's car, received a mild concussion. Lacerations of the forehead and lip and abrasions of the knee. Antonio sustained lacerations of the knee, while Bennett was treated for a back injury. All are in fair condition at the hospital.

Police said that after Antonio's car hit Bennett's, it swerved to the left, jumped the curb and crashed into a tree. Antonio was arrested for driving while intoxicated.

The front of Antonio's car and the rear of Bennett's auto were severely damaged.

Carrollton, Minerva Phone Pact Approved

Agreement on a one-year revised contract has been reached between General Telephone Company of Ohio and Local 642, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, A.F.L.

Local 642 represents non-management employees in the Carrollton and Minerva operating areas of the General Telephone Company of Ohio. In an NLRB election conducted in July employees confirmed by ballot continued representation by IBEW and rejected representation by CWA. Local 642 has represented employees of this area prior to 1946 when General Telephone Company of Ohio acquired the Carrollton-Minerva properties.

The contract revisions provide for a general wage adjustment effective Sept. 2, 1956 and other improvements. The contract contains a no-strike pledge and provides for arbitration of grievances.

The Kiwanians and their guests will hold a square dance at the Country Club on Oct. 25.

Educator To Address Rotarians On Tuesday

Jess Powers, head of the Department of Distributive Education in northeastern Ohio, with offices at Kent State University, will speak to Rotary Club members Tuesday noon at the Memorial Building.

Herbert Gordon is program chairman.

MISSION GROUP TO MEET

Members of the Elsie Matti Missionary Circle of the First Friends church will meet tonight at the church for a work project, instead of Thursday, the customary meeting night, it is announced.

Obituary

Mrs. Alice Ost

Mrs. Alice Ost, 57, of New York City, died suddenly of a heart attack Saturday afternoon on a bus in Newark, N. J.

Mrs. Ost had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Harry Krebs of 160 S. Lincoln Ave., and had departed by airplane from Youngstown Saturday morning.

She was on her way to assume her duties as a food checker in the Hilton Hotels in New York City. Born June 2, 1899 in New York City, she was the daughter of Henry and Louise Tonier Robin.

Survivors besides Mrs. Krebs include another daughter, Mrs. Elaine Gedenbery of Billingham, Wash.; a son, Harold Ost of the Air Force stationed at Sacramento, Calif.; and eight grandchildren. Funeral arrangements are pending.

Mrs. Ulrich Bichsel

Mrs. Mary Liniger Bichsel, 84, of New Philadelphia died Saturday night at 8:20 at Union Hospital in Dover of infirmities. She had been ill three months.

She was born in Canton, Berne, Switzerland April 25, 1872. Her husband was the late Ulrich Bichsel.

She was a member of the Methodist Church.

She leaves four daughters, Mrs. John Kuenzli of Salem, Mrs. Roy Lindsay and Mrs. John Tucker of New Philadelphia, and Mrs. Chester Kennedy of Lisbon; six sons, Harry U. and Fred of Salem, and William J., Charles A., Herbert and Homer of New Philadelphia; 31 grandchildren; 20 great-grandchildren; and one sister, Mrs. Christ Wittwer of Alliance.

Two daughters, two sons and a brother preceded her in death.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Linn-Hert Funeral Home, with Rev. Arthur Villwock officiating. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery at New Philadelphia.

Friends may call today from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 at the funeral home.

Gromley Infant

Graveside services were to be held this afternoon at 2 for the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Gromley of RD 3, Salem who died at birth Sunday morning at 9:10 in the Central Clinic.

The services were scheduled for the Highland Christian Church Cemetery, with Rev. Larry R. Wigal, pastor of the Phillips Christian Church, officiating.

Mrs. Joseph E. Bentley

Mrs. Julia Ione Bentley, 72, formerly of 2030 E. State St., died of a heart ailment Saturday noon in a hospital at Clearwater Fla.

Mrs. Bentley and her husband, Joseph E. Bentley, had arrived in Clearwater Oct. 4 to make their home.

Born at Hartsgrove, O., Feb. 26, 1884, she was the daughter of Howard and Ruth Norris Dole. On June 1, 1911 she was married in Lisbon to Mr. Bentley, who survives.

A resident of Salem most of her lifetime she was a member of the First Methodist Church and the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the church.

A member of the Sons of Veterans Auxiliary, she was also affiliated with the Salem Book Club and the Salem Garden Club.

Other survivors besides her husband.

ating. Interment will be in Grandview Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight.

Cleaned From The Mail

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Odd facts a columnist might never know if he didn't read his mail (or eavesdrop):

That Lord Kitchener, one of Britain's greatest soldiers, had a lifelong fear of cats.

That the average baby is 20 inches long at birth... but if the stork short-changed you there isn't much you can do about it.

That your child's fingernails grow faster than your own.

That anyone who writes a suicide note in which he tells how he wants his property divided is more likely to really kill himself than one who pens a farewell note which makes no mention of what he'd like done with his possessions.

(The second guy really hasn't made up his mind to let go.)

That anyone who threatens suicide is capable of it, but few who say they are afraid they will commit suicide actually do.

That many women fear developing cervical cancer during pregnancy, but only 1 in 7,000 does... and the rate is even lower among women under 30.

That among the 250 new varieties of fruit developed by Luther Burbank, the "plant wizard" were a white blackberry and a plum that tasted like a pear.

That 300,000 naturalized Americans will be able for the first time to vote for president Nov. 6. (And it's a safe bet that a higher percentage will go to the polls than among our native-born citizens, who inherited freedom.)

That Theodore Roosevelt was the only president who ever officially loaned his name to a toy — the "Teddy Bear," of which 150 million have been sold.

That tuberculosis, far from being conquered, still kills more people than all other infectious diseases combined.

That to determine the average height of a child between 4 and 12,

CHANCE TO LIVE—Mrs. William Anderson, of West Milton, Ohio, hugs her 16-month-old son, David Michael, just five days after New York surgeons removed both of the little boy's eyes. The parents traded the boy's eyes, affected by malignant tumors, in order to give him a chance to live. Doctors believed the child would not have lived beyond six years of age if the malignancy was not controlled.

doctors often use this formula: Multiply the age by 2½ and add 30. Thus a 10-year-old child, if average, will be 55 inches tall. A child of 12 averages 60 inches—5 feet.

That (now don't tell me you knew this!) fish are born as naked as jaybirds. They don't develop scales until after birth.

VALUABLE FURS STOLEN

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Furs valued by their owner at $250,000 were stolen Sunday from a downtown Columbus furrier. Police described the burglary as the biggest fur theft in the city's history. Juan De Cirota, owner of De Cirota Furriers, said approximately 300 pieces were stolen.

With television, radio, magazines, movies, books, news digests and all of the other time consuming hobbies, chores and forms of entertainment we have available to us today . . .

DOES ANYONE FIND TIME TO READ A DAILY NEWSPAPER ANYMORE?

Well, You Just Bet Your Life They Do!

IN FACT there are more people reading newspapers today than ever before in history.

This was no more vividly brought out than in a recent report issued by the New York advertising agency, Cunningham & Walsh in its seventh annual edition of "VIDEO-TOWN, U.S.A."

This report is a research study of family activities and habits in a typical American city. The study is made to determine what effect TV has on family living. In the report, the agency says: "Newspaper reading is the only form of mass communication in the home that shows no reaction when TV sets are purchased."

The report goes on further to point out that radio listening time is down considerably as is time spent in movies and time spent reading magazines while actual time spent reading newspapers IS UP CONSIDERABLY!

Add to this the fact that in America last year, people bought over 54,000,000 newspapers EVERY DAY for which they paid $3,500,000 . . . or more money in a year's time than was spent for all books, magazines and other reading material put together.

It makes an impressive story for the position of newspaper reading in American family life today.

The Salem News alone, last year, sold over 2,900,000 newspapers to people in Salem and the Salem area.

In this area, three out of four families read the Salem News every day of the week. Compare this with 13% who read Life magazine once a week and the 29% who see even the highest rated T. V. show once a week.

Yes, dear reader, there are a great many people who, in spite of all the other things there are to do, find time to read their daily newspaper . . .

. . . in fact you're doing it yourself right this minute!

THE SALEM NEWS

Dampness Can Attack Livability Of Virtually Any Type Of Home

Excessive dampness can attack and undermine the livability of virtually any type of home, whether it is built over a basement, a ventilated crawl space or on a concrete slab. Only proper vapor sealing can adequately protect a house against dry rot, mildew, warpage and other problems. You'd think that a house built over a thoroughly ventilated crawl space with relatively dry earth underneath could be free from moisture troubles. But this is not always the case. Engineers have found that soil can act as a wick and evaporate more moisture than a surface of water. If you built a house on stilts out over the edge of a river or lake, you'd expect some dampness. So with granules of soil multiplying evaporation surfaces by the millions, you stand to get even more dampness. You must seal that soil surface.

Highlighting the urgency of this problem is a letter just received from Mrs. C. H. P. of Monroe, Mich. "Believe me," she writes, "when we bought our home last April it looked beautiful. But dampness has become so bad that it has made our hardwood floors wavy. The house is built over a crawl space about 36 inches deep. The ground is damp, but not soggy." There is a case for a vapor barrier. Heavy asphalt roofing paper widely overlapped or polyethylene plastic film can do this job effectively and apparently permanently. Smooth the ground as well as possible, stretch the vapor barrier carefully over the surface allowing wide overlaps and scatter a little dry sand on top of it to hold it down. Even houses with so-called heated crawl spaces should be sealed against ground moisture.

FOG AND FROST on cold window panes have inspired a lot of advice on controlling indoor moisture. Cooking, laundering and bathing without adequate ventilation are said to add from two to four gallons of water to the air in a house within one day. People add still more moisture from their lungs and skin surfaces — as much as 11 to 12 pints daily for a family of four. But one expert says this all amounts to a drop in a bucket compared with the moisture that comes into houses from the outside. He is G. A. Voorhees, technical secretary of the National Warm Air Heating and Air Conditioning Assn.

In a formal report for architects and engineers, entitled "Moisture Problems in Crawl Space Houses," Voorhees gives comprehensive reasons for the wick action of the soil. He points out that 10 pounds of soil can contain from one pint to one quart of water, depending on the clay, silt or other "fines" in the soil.

A small house with 850 square feet of crawl space is examined. If this house is built over bare earth of a high moisture content, 16 1/4 gallons of water may be evaporated under the house in 24 hours.

If the same house is built over water the evaporation at the same temperature would amount to only 14.8 gallons.

If the earth surface is covered with 55-pound roof roofing, less than one pint of evaporation will occur.

"TOO OFTEN," says Voorhees, "we hear the statement 'Oh, I don't need any vapor barrier on the floor of this crawl space because the ground water level here is at least 12 to 15 feet below the surface.'"

"The findings of government engineers show that the moisture content of soil at the surface of the earth in a crawl space remains substantially the same regardless of whether the ground water level is as little as 8 feet or as much as 20 feet below the level of the crawl space floor."

USING A SOLDERING IRON

AP Newsfeatures
DO . . . know that no soldering iron, whether electric or otherwise, will give maximum efficiency unless the copper tip is smoothed and "tinned."

DO . . . the "tinning" by heating the copper, rubbing on a block of sal ammoniac (available in hardware stores), covering with a thin coat of melted solder and wiping off the excess with a cloth.

DO . . . be sure that the areas to be soldered are free of dirt, grit and other foreign materials.

DO . . . get a better soldering result by first applying a flux or paste, unless you are sure you are using a special solder that requires no flux.

DO . . . see that the soldering iron is so directed that it heats the surfaces to be joined as well as melts the solder.

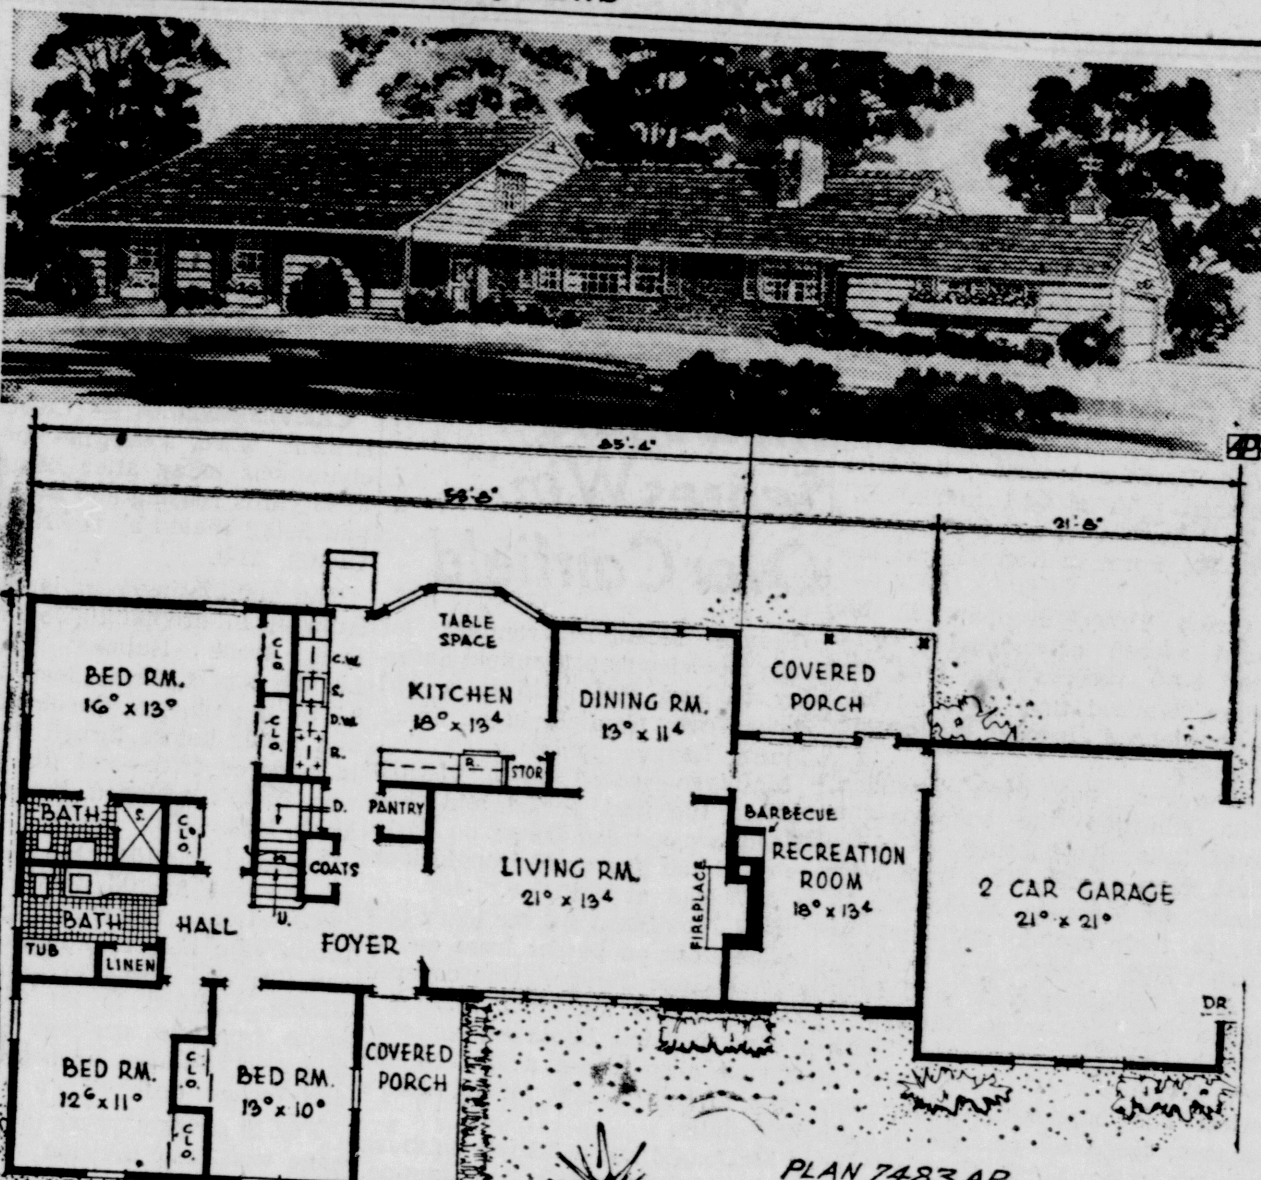

DON'T . . . use what is called acid flux or acid-core solder on any electrical connections because of possible corrosion effects.

DON'T . . . neglect to buy or make some kind of metal stand on which to rest the soldering iron while it is not in use but is still hot.

DON'T . . . try to solder either aluminum or stainless steel in the ordinary manner, since both of these metals require special products and techniques to achieve satisfactory results.

DON'T . . . guess what kind of solder and flux to use; your dealer can assist you if you tell him exactly what type of soldering job you are doing.

A MAIN FLOOR recreation room with a barbecue fireplace is a headline feature of this spacious ranch style house. Table space in front of a bay window in the kitchen is another glamorous detail. All rooms are large, yet this house covers 1,621 square feet, without garage and porches, which figure separately at lower building costs. This is plan 7483AP by Herman H. York, architect, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica 32, N.Y.

Farmers Fight Moisture With Caulking Guns

The city dweller may neglect his house a bit and, when it begins to go to seed, sell out and move on. Not so the farmer. He who may spend a lifetime in one place must keep his house, barn and other outbuildings in good order. One of the farmer's prime headaches is water damage. Standing isolated in open fields, often without protection from so much as a stand of trees, his buildings are at the mercy of wind-driven rain and snow.

He uses paint liberally and at regular intervals, but water can find its way in at cracks that paint won't cover. One answer is an annual once-over with caulking compound. Cracks around window and door frames, seams where the sides of buildings meet, seams between wood and concrete of the foundation are just a few of the places that should be caulked.

Highly recommended as an applicator is a new type of caulking gun equipped with non-oiling cartridges. In it provision is made for the release of pressure which in most caulking guns causes the compound to continue flowing for a time after release of the trigger. Positive flow cutoff results in as much as a 25 per cent saving in material.

Anywhere that water can collect and stand for extended periods, in contact with bare wood or masonry — these are spots that should be caulked. Handi-Calk Company of Cleveland, O., suggests a close-up check of all outbuildings — barns, coops, silos and others.

Farmers should examine their barn lofts from the outside. Cracks and splits will be seen either where the wood has parted or some portion of it has rotted away. Further wood rot can be prevented by stuffing mineral wool or oakum in the cracks and caulking over it.

Since most barns have single-thickness walls, a daylight check from the inside is helpful in spotting openings. Closing them can help keep the barn warmer and prevent spoilage of feed stored near the openings.

Calk wooden parts of the barn meeting the foundation. Moisture meeting in between the lumber and concrete can rot the wood in areas where only close inspection could reveal damage.

If mortar has chipped away on silo walls built of concrete block, a bead of caulking will keep rain and snow out of the weathered joints and protect the silo against frost damage and paint peeling.

Where holes have been cut in the sides of a barn for drain pipes or other plumbing, apply caulking around the pipes at the holes.

Calking is an easy task as compared to most home maintenance jobs. A squeeze of the caulking gun trigger unloads a stream of gap-filling compound. But no mat-

Ways To Prevent Home Fires Listed

Death by fire in the home is one of the commonest yet most avoidable of all family tragedies, says the National Fire Protection Association. During Fire Prevention Week, the NFPA urges all members of the family to take preventive measures against these main classes of home fires:

1. Careless smoking and handling of matches. Put out cigarettes and matches carefully. Keep matches away from children.

2. Defective chimneys and heating plants shoot out dangerous sparks. A clean chimney and a fire-resistant roofing material such as asphalt shingles is the best way to protect the home from chimney sparks or from trash fires.

3. Overloaded or defective wiring circuits. Only a qualified electrician should install wiring.

4. Trash accumulation. Remove rubbish regularly from basements, attic and closets.

5. Improper handling of gasoline and kerosene, and the use of flammable liquids for dry cleaning and paint removing.

Quizzing The Gardener

Q—Will clippings left after mowing be good or bad for the lawn?
A—Most helpful if the lawn is mowed regularly. Grass should be cut when it is 2 to 2½ inches long and with the mower set to cut about 1½ inches. If grass is too long and thick the clippings may mat down and injure the grass below. Short clippings dry out in a day or two and add considerable organic matter to the soil.
Q—How often should one cultivate the vegetable garden?
A—Do not cultivate much in hot weather. Just enough to keep the rows weed-free. An inch is deep enough, otherwise you may injure vegetable roots. Allow cut weeds to remain as a mulch. Better yet, mulch with shredded sugar cane, straw or similar material.

Q—Is it necessary to lime the soil around established lilacs?
A—Lilacs show their need for lime by not growing well in an acid soil. If you have plants that are several years old and have shown poor growth and sparse blooms, it is probably due to the lack of lime. Several trowelfuls of agricultural lime cultivated and watered well into the soil about the plants may be the means of realizing ailing plants. A good dose of super-phosphate applied with the lime would be appreciated.
Q—Do raspberries require lime? What is the best fertilizer for them?
A—Raspberries themselves do not need lime, but if manure or cover crops are used for humus, lime will help them. Stable manure is the best fertilizer, or use a cover crop. Apply chicken manure, one pound per square yard, in early spring. Work it in.
Q—How far north will apricots grow?
A—Apricot trees will grow wherever the peach will grow, but since the peach blooms earlier than the peach, satisfactory crops will not set where later spring frosts are common.
Q—Can you advise me about using sawdust as a mulch? Can it be used year after year?
A—A sawdust mulch tends to create a nitrogen deficiency due to bacterial action as it rots down. To counteract this, apply nitrate of soda at the rate of one to two pounds per 100 square feet. While the sawdust can be used for more than one season, this gardener advises working the old mulch into the soil in the spring and then re-mulching.

How You Can Dip Shingles in Paint

A good way to dip your own shingles in stain or paint is to fill a barrel or other suitable container with the coating material to the desired depth to cover the part of shingle to be exposed to the weather. Several shingles at a time can be immersed but ends down. Allow a few inches to spare above the weather line. Drain the shingles in a wooden trough with one end draining back into the barrel or tub. After shingles have drained, stack them for drying.

ORDINANCE NO. 561002-69

Introduced by: Hanna

BEING AN ORDINANCE DETERMINING TO PROCEED WITH THE IMPROVEMENT OF PENN AVENUE FROM EAST PERSHING STREET TO COLUMBIA STREET BY PAVING.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SALEM, STATE OF OHIO:

SECTION 1

That it is hereby determined to proceed with the improvement of Penn Avenue from East Pershing Street to Columbia Street by asphalt paving and concrete curbing in accordance with resolution No. 56007-52, passed on the 7th day of August, 1956 and in accordance with the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles heretofore approved and now on file in the office of the director of public service.

SECTION 2

That all claims and damages resulting from the improvement of Penn Avenue shall be determined by the proposed improvement and the collector be and he is hereby authorized and directed to institute proceedings in a court of competent jurisdiction to inquire into such claims.

SECTION 3

That the whole cost of said improvement shall be assessed by the front foot upon the following described lots and lands, to-wit:

All lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvement which said lots and lands are hereby determined to be specifically benefited by said improvement and the cost of said improvement shall include the expense of the preliminary and other surveys and of printing and publishing the notices, resolutions and ordinances required and the serving of the said notices, the cost of construction, together with interest on notes and bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred assessments and all other necessary expenditures.

SECTION 4

That assessments so to be levied shall be paid in 20 semi-annual installments with interest on deferred payments with the same rate as shall be born by the notes and bonds to be issued in anticipation of the collection thereof, provided that the owner of any property assessed may at his option pay such assessment in cash within 30 days after the passage of the assessing ordinance.

SECTION 5

That bonds of the City of Salem shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal thereto and notes of said City shall be issued in anticipation of the issue of said bonds.

SECTION 6

That the City Engineer be and he is hereby directed to prepare and file with your council a tentative assessment showing the amount to be assessed on each lot or parcel of land.

SECTION 7

That the director of public service be and he is hereby authorized and directed as soon as the funds therefor are available to make and execute a contract for said improvement with the lowest and best bidder after advertisement according to law.

SECTION 8

This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

MAN DIES AFTER BEATING

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ed Warren, 21, of Cincinnati, died Sunday in General Hospital of injuries police said he suffered in a beating Friday after a card game argument. Investigators held Donald Whaley, 18, for questioning. No charges were filed. Police said that Whaley was asked to leave the house where the game was in progress, and that when Warren left the house 15 minutes later, the beating ensued.

Mishaps Kill 18 Over Weekend

14 Persons Die
In Ohio Traffic

By The Associated Press
A rash of tragedies Sunday turned a quiet Ohio weekend into a 54-hour period in which 18 persons were accidentally killed.

An Associated Press survey covered the period from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Sunday showed that 14 persons died in traffic accidents.

Two perished in fires, one man was assumed drowned and a four-month-old boy was killed in a freak accident in Shelby, when his baby sitter tripped and fell on him, breaking his neck.

Collisions near Canton and Sidney both claimed two lives Sunday.

The list of fatalities:

Friday night:
Michael Bray, 4 months, Shelby, when his baby sitter tripped on a rug and fell on him breaking his neck.

Miss Amelia Miller, 82, Cincinnati, struck by a car while crossing a street near her home.

Dennis Duirk, 17, Cleveland in a two-car collision on U. S. 21 near Canal Fulton.

Saturday:
John Vismara, 13, Cincinnati, of injuries suffered Friday night when struck by a car at a downtown Cincinnati intersection.

Sunday:
William Hall, 77, Youngstown, in a two-car collision on Ohio 90 near Warren.

Fred Gilbert, 70, when fire swept his farm house 13 miles north of Marietta.

Arthur G. Wells, 76, Shaker Heights, in a two-car collision at the intersection of Ohio 10 and 76 in Cuyahoga County.

Ronnie Lee Gaylean, 20, Milamibus, when his speeding auto overturned while being chased by police on U. S. 25 near the Montgomery-Warren County line.

Larry Wheat, 16, Willoughby when the car in which he was riding crashed at the intersection of Ohio 3 and 205, 14 miles north-east of Mount Vernon.

Louis Tatman, 84, Rt. 2 Payne in a one-car accident about seven miles south of that Paulding County community.

Mrs. Mary Schoonover, 75, when a fire of undetermined origin swept the rooms she occupied in Waynesfield (Wapakoneta County).

HIGHWAY PLAN CHIEF. Burton D. Tallamy, 54, above, chairman of the New York State Thruway Authority, has been named by President Eisenhower to head government's new $3 billion dollar highway construction program. Appointment is subject to confirmation by the Senate.

Mrs. Cora Lee, 63, Akron, when the car in which she was riding was struck by a train at a South Akron crossing.

Edward S. Szlag, 27, Cleveland, missing and presumed drowned after he fell from a motorboat into Lake Erie.

Orlo J. Hindall, 55, of Arlington, in a two-car collision on U. S. 25, seven miles north of Sidney.

Carl Winters, 24, and Dorann Gerwig, 17, both of Canton when the car in which they were riding rolled over near Canton.

James Hook 76, Masury, Trumbull County, struck by a car which left the scene on U. S. 62 about one-half mile west of the Ohio-Pennsylvania state line.

INSURANCE AGENTS MEET
CLEVELAND (AP) — The Ohio Assn. of Insurance Agents opened its 59th annual convention today with a luncheon meeting at which the speaker is Kenneth Force, executive editor of the National Underwriter magazine. About 700 are expected to take part in the convention.

new. They're always bellyaching. Maybe it means something and maybe it doesn't. You can't tell about a farmer. He's liable to talk one way and vote the other."

A small, wiry man who studies economic bulletins, Danklefsen says he hasn't made up his mind how he is going to vote in November.

Danklefsen's machinery sales are holding up. But he complained his margin of profit is getting "smaller and smaller all the time." But he said he isn't blaming his troubles on Washington.

Bellevue is something of a railroad town and it is not without Democrats.

Out for a morning stroll, C. G. Setzler was free with his political views.

"Yes, sir, I'm for Stevenson," he said whipping out his wallet and extracting his railway conductors' union card. "The only time we ever got anything under the Democrats, Eisenhower, he promised he was going to have the Taft-Hartley Act repealed but nothing has been done."

"Nixon is the worst man for labor that ever was. As far as I can see and read and hear Eisenhower never was president."

At the edge of town Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Hunter operate a luxurious motel. They don't depend on local prosperity in their business but are sensitive to what is happening about them.

Pretty Mrs. Hunter said she usually doesn't vote Republican but will this year.

"I want a Republican to be in office more than just one term," she said. "I have voted for Gov. Lausche before but I'll probably vote for Bender."

Westward down U. S. 20 Harry Kaufman was putting gas in his tractor while his brother George finished up with the chores. Harry is 72 years old and George is 77. Between them they farm 120 acres mostly in corn wheat and beans.

Harry pushed his cap back on head and said he was voting Republican. For three generations the Kaufmans had been Republicans and he wasn't of a mind to change.

"We take in enough money," he said, "but there ain't much of it left when we get through paying our expenses. But we're getting as good a break as we ever got under the Democrats."

"Now, Eisenhower he's the best we got in sight. Main thing is he figures to keep us out of war. Lausche, he's a good man, but if he got elected he would have to vote with the Democrats."

A few miles westward Richard A. Schiller stopped work on a new potato storage building to observe that "things are a little better" for he farmer now.

"I was pretty disgusted last year and the year before," he said. "In fact the last three years have been miserable ones. But things are a little better now. But I haven't made up my mind yet how I'm going to vote."

Schiller farms 175 acres of corn, wheat, oats, beans with some in orchards. He said in a complaint heard many times, "expenses are out of all proportion to income."

In Clyde, further west on U. S. 20, Clarence Mosier was cutting up chickens for the retail markets in his feed store.

The way farmers were talking, he said he guessed they were divided about evenly between supporters of Eisenhower and Stevenson though Eisenhower might have a little edge.

"The big thing is," he said "that Ike's kept us out of war." Business isn't as good as it was.

Mosier said, and he doesn't know exactly why. "They just ain't buying as much," he said.

He added that his business expenses had gone up and his margin of profit seemed to be getting narrower all the time. Mosier said he was going to wait a while before he decided which men to vote for.

Down the street in Clyde, R. G. (Pete) Rogers runs a restaurant, a motel and an antique shop. A soft-spoken man, Rogers has firm political convictions.

"I've been a Democrat all my life," he said, "but I'm going to vote for Eisenhower and Nixon. I think they have done as good a job as we have had in Washington for years. I think they are more sincere and trustworthy than their opponents."

Rogers said he will vote for Bender, too, because "I never have voted for Lausche—I don't think he's a Democrat."

Seven miles westward in Fremont, Howard Moyer filled up the car gas tank and said he thinks the town, which usually goes Republican, could go either way this time. He said Lausche "has always been strong around these parts."

Moyer said he had never voted a straight ticket in his life. If he had made up his mind about what he was going to do on election day, he didn't want his customers of both parties to know it.

A few miles west of Fremont, Fred Swartzman was just getting his mail from the box across the highway from his well-kept farm of 105 acres.

Swartzman, a Democrat, said he'll probably vote the ticket straight although he doesn't much like Lausche.

"The farmer has never seen any good times during a Republican administration," he declared. "Ike promised the farmer a fair share and the farmer sure didn't get it."

A few miles on, near Perrysburg, Wayne Hartman put the grass mower he was operating in neutral and hopped off to talk.

Hartman owns 195 acres but works as an architectural engineer in Toledo. He has his land leased out but lives on it, commuting to Toledo on working days.

As a man who voted for Eisenhower four years ago, Hartman isn't just sure where his own best economic interests lie in next month's election. His tenant, Herman Kline, thinks prices are better under the Democrats and likely will vote that ticket.

Mosier said, and he doesn't know exactly why. "They just ain't buying as much," he said.

He added that his business expenses had gone up and his margin of profit seemed to be getting narrower all the time. Mosier said he was going to wait a while before he decided which men to vote for.

Senator's Difficulty Comes Before Speech

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) had a little difficulty here Sunday night before delivering the address at a nonpartisan dinner sponsored by the Knights of Columbus.

The dinner had to be held up until Kennedy could locate his suitcase—and the tuxedo it contained. It had been misplaced at the airport.

One of the K. of C. officials then referred to him as "Sen. Wagner" of New York.

Then it came the turn of Mayor David Lawrence of Pittsburgh to formally introduce Kennedy. With a big smile, he introduced him as "Sen. John Fitzgerald."

School Superintendent In Jail Following Spanking
IONIA, Mich. (AP)—Charges of assault and battery confronted school superintendent Harry Flower of nearby Palo today in the wake of an alleged spanking incident involving a 7-year-old boy.

Flower, 31, was fired and landed in jail after Mrs. Vice Wolfington complained that her son Robert suffered bruises she said, were inflicted by Flower.

Deputy Sheriff Ralph Johnson said Flower admitted spanking the boy Friday, saying he caught him and other youngsters throwing stones at a teacher's car. The deputy said Flower told him he had not struck the boy hard enough to cause injury.

Man, Wife Argue; Husband Is Shot
AKRON, Ohio (AP)—After weeks of wrangling about "nothing in particular," Mrs. Marian Malcomb, 28, grabbed a revolver and shot her husband Richard, 32, in the chest. Police Capt. John Stewart reported Sunday. Malcomb was dead on arrival at St. Thomas Hospital. The shooting was at the couple's home in Cuyahoga Falls.

Runaway Girls On Horses Provide A Merry Chase

MONTROSE, Mich. (AP)—A dozen police cars got the call: "Two runaway girls sighted near Montrose. Both are on horseback."

Thus did Barbara Lawrence, 14, and Martha Sackrider, 13, touch off a merry 2½-hour chase Sunday through fields over ditches and up and down rural roads. In pursuit was a "posse" of state and local police, sheriff's deputies, citizens and newspapermen.

The posse finally captured the girls.

Undersheriff Jack Turner said a paternal reprimand on school marks started it all. Throwing bedrolls behind them, the girls mounted and rode away into the night. They were more than 10 miles from home when spotted.
